“ Tips for Prolonging Your Garden Furniture’s Life

Rattan Garden Furniture Description and Care:

Rattan is a hypo-allergenic, antibacterial, mildew-repellent and recyclable plastic material that is easy to clean and suitable for changing weather conditions. Rattan furniture and garden seating groups must be dusted first before cleaning. Use a dry brush or vacuum cleaner to remove dust. If the dirt is surface only, use natural soap and water. Then, wash the furniture with clean water and let it dry in the open air. Already in our portfolio, the Easy, Rene and Winona garden furniture ranges are made from rattan thread.

Iroko Garden Furniture Description and Care:

Iroko is a naturally oily tree. After it's been treated, you will see that the wood fades over time as it loses oil. This is normal and shows that you're using genuine wood. It is extremely easy to prevent this fading. Iroko wood is very easy to maintain. Cleaning your Iroko furniture once a year and oiling it with teak oil is all you need to do to maintain its day-one appearance and prolong its life. Periodically cared for, Iroko furniture will not need sanding or similar workshop maintenance. However, sanding is recommended for furniture that has been neglected for a long time. All you need to do to get your furniture ready for the new season is to rub teak oil on it, wait a few minutes for the oil to spread evenly, then wipe off the excess with a dry cloth. A newcomer to our portfolio, Brenna Garden Furniture is made of Iroko wood. A newcomer to our portfolio, Brenna Garden Furniture is made of Iroko wood.

Aluminium Garden Furniture Description and Care:

Aluminium garden furniture lasts longer than other garden furniture types and are products you can always use. Aluminium does not corrode on contact with water, it is rust-free, making it the most popular choice of furniture for use outdoors. Another advantage is that aluminium is one-third the weight of other metals, making it ideal for daily use. Outdoor furniture means products that be used with no bother even in very hot or very cold weather 12 months of the year. Apart from all the other advantages, aluminium furniture is also easy to maintain. It can easily be cleaned with a damp cloth. If it gets muddy, just clean with plenty of water than dry it. Already in our portfolio, the Easy, Rene, Winona and Mira garden furniture ranges are made of aluminium.
